What is the true statement behind the sermons opening?

List some aspects of life is this stamen true for?

“Whatever you do”

We all know people who get by in life without giving it their all. We see them every day at work don't we, they slack off on their jobs, they slack off on their responsibilities they just don't do what they are supposed to.

Oh, if they're slick, they can get by, if they see the boss is coming, they can look busy or if the neighbors come over, they can be the best husband or wife in the world but when the boss turns his back and the neighbors go home, then they go back to their old ways. They pretend to be investing in life, but they aren't really putting anything into it.
